ABOUT LATIN AMERICAN SPANISH

Pronunciation

Latin American Spanish pronunciation differs from the Castilian Spanish spoken in Spain. The most obvious difference is the lack of the liping 'th' sound which is found in Castilian Spanish. Pronunciation in Latin America also varies to an extent from country to country and from region to region (see p12). In this book we've used pronunciation guides which will allow you to be understood in all parts of Latin America. If you read them as if they were English, you should get your meaning across.

Vowel Sounds

Vowels are pronounced crisply. There are four vowel sounds that roughly correspond to diphthongs (vowel-sound combinations) in English.
